Raising Early Learners

As Early Childhood Education plays a key role in the development of Children and their entire future in Education, we should note that how we handle the pre-primary school education will in turn affect the competency of the Nations human resources and the labour market at large. Early Years Education lays the foundation for lifelong learning and influences the later development and learning of young Children.

Hence, positive behaviours and attitudes to learning should be nurtured by teachers to foster knowledge, skills and dispositions which are relevant for future educational stages. The acronym PRAISE is used to help reinforce the acquisition of knowledge and skills in the various learning areas;

1. Perseverance
2. Reflectiveness
3. Appreciation
4. Inventiveness
5. Sense of wonder and curiosity
6. Encouragement

It is of high priority that, Educators in the Early Years Foundation should focus on the relevant knowledge, skills, and disposition, to develop competencies in every child.

Also, the use of ITEACH Principle for early years should be employed. It is an internationally approved teaching principle for early years (pre-primary) school children. The I TEACH Principle guide the planning, designing, and facilitation of meaningful and appropriate learning experiences for young children. The I TEACH Principles are;

1. Integrated approach to learning
2. Teachers as facilitators of learning
3. Engaging children in learning through purposeful play
4. Authentic learning through quality interactions
5. Children as constructors of knowledge
6. Holistic development

MANAGE YOUR ENVIRONMENT

The mind is the most delicate and most sensitive instrument of all creation. Millions of people are diet conscious, little wonder we are seen as a calorie-counting nation. We spend millions of Naira on vitamins, minerals and other dietary supplements. Through nutritional research, we have observed that the body reflects the "diet of the body". Physical stamina, resistance to diseases, body size, even how long we live are all closely related to what we eat.

The body is what the body is fed, so likewise, the mind is what the mind is fed with. Mind-Food of course does not come in packages and you cannot buy it at the store. Mind-Food is your ENVIRONMENT- all the countless things that influence your conscious and sub-conscious thought. The kind of Mind-Food we consume determines our habits, attitudes & personality.

Each of us inherited certain capacity to develop. But how much of that capacity we have developed and the way we have developed that capacity depends on the kind of Mind-Food we have fed it. The mind reflects what its environment feeds it, same way the body reflects the food we feed it with.

Environment shapes us and makes us think the way we do hence, prolonged association with negative people makes us think negatively. On the brighter side, companionship with people with big ideas raise the bar of our thinking. Therefore, be mindful of your environment
